Auslogics® Software

company profile

Started in early 2008, Auslogics Software Pty Ltd has been on a mission to improve the speed and stability of Microsoft Windows' operation on personal computers ever since.

The company's flagship product Auslogics BoostSpeed has gained a steady market share by combining numerous system optimization, maintenance, cleanup and repair tools with no-frills, easy to use interface.

Understanding that freeware plays an important role in people's lives, Auslogics has created a number of freeware tools, one of which (Auslogics Disk Defrag) became popular because of its simple and intuitive user interfaces.

In 2009 the company created a free process library called FileInspect.Com which serves as the hub for all file related searches. The library contains information about all major files, including their publisher, size, description and other information.

Auslogics software is used by over 5,000,000 people worldwide and it is now a well recognized and respected brand in the online world.
